ABOUT THIS BOOK

Young student Ricky Anderson has the world at his feet. Budding nuclear physicist par excellence, rugged good looks, gorgeous girlfriend, job offers aplenty, he has it all. Well, almost all. His beloved mother has lost her way in life ever since the heart-breaking day when her husband lost his life in a horrific road traffic accident, and her life is spiralling out of control. Now the mixed fortunes of mother and son are about to meet head-on in another devastating 'car crash', as Ricky goes on the run for a crime he didn't commit and with a whole cast of cops, corrupt politicians, seedy businessmen and ruthless underworld enforcers on his trail. Can Ricky outwit his pursuers and prove his own innocence ... or is he really a dead man walking?

ABOUT THE AUTHOR

Ian McMurdo was born the son of a coalminer and raised in New Cumnock. As a glassy-eyed, would-be footballer who readily concedes that his ambitions far outweighed his talents, he eventually found his niche in young adult life as an aspiring Chemistry teacher, before climbing all the way up the greasy pole of management to the heady heights of Director of Education. Now retired, Ian lives with his wife Nan and their two dogs in the village of Kildonan on the southernmost tip of the island of Arran. It is their favourite place on earth. He remains a well-known educational commentator and occasional journalist. This is his sixth book.
